EASTERN STATES.

Results in Illinois.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The Republicans will have a majority of 32 on joint ballot in the Illinois Legislature. The Congressional delegation stands 13 Republicans and six Democrats. Grant's majority in the State is not less than 50,000.

Further Election Returns

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 6.—Grant carries the State by about 5,000.

HARTFORD, Nov. 6.—Grant carries the State by 3,351.

BANGOR, Nov. 6.—Returns indicate about 30,000 Republican majority in the State.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6.—Returns indicate Greeley's majority in the State at 3,000.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6.—The vote of the city is not yet counted and will probably take three or four days. It is believed that the Liberal majority of Orleans parish is between 10,000 and 15,000. Both parties claim the State—the Liberals being confident of 10,000.

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 6.—Returns come in very slow. Twelve counties heard from give the Republican candidate for Governor, Hart, 6,000 majority.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 6.—Election returns come in slowly. The full vote of only a few counties has been received. It is estimated that Greeley's majority will be about 20,000; Brown's about the same.

MONTGOMERY, Nov. 6.—County returns show about equal gains and losses by both parties as compared with 1870. Each party are confident of the State.

WILMINGTON, Nov. 6.—Additional returns indicate that Grant will have 1,000 majority in the State.

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—The vote of Massachusetts is nearly complete and foots up for Grant 131,077, and for Greeley, 57,860. Grant's majority, 73,217.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—Returns from fifty six counties, official and reported, show a majority of 19,663.

RICHMOND, Nov. 6.—Additional returns show increased Republican gains in the State. Many Democrats concede the State to Grant, while others are sanguine of carrying it for Greeley.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 6.—The Republicans will carry the State by 12,000, and will have 33 majority on joint ballot.

Receives Congratulations.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Wm. F. Havemeyer, the newly elected Mayor, received to-day the congratulations of numerous friends, including many of the best known men in the city and State.

Horace Greeley, Editor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Tribune to-morrow will publish the following card:

"The undersigned resumes the editorship of the Tribune, which he relinquished on embarking in another line of business six months ago. Henceforth it shall be his endeavor to make this a thoroughly independent journal, treating all parties and political movements with judicial fairness, but courting the favor or deprecating the wrath of none.

(Signed) HORACE GREELEY."

The Equine Epidemic.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—The horse disease is now at it worst stage, aggravated by rainy weather. Very few cars are running.

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 6.—Unfavorable weather to-day gave the horse disease a fresh impetus.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 6.—The horse disease has spread rapidly through various stables during the past two days and compelled the principal railroad company to suspend travel.

Disavowal.

LEWISTON, Mo., Nov. 6.—Elizabeth Cady Stanton, who was cited by Mrs. Woodhull as authority for some of the charges against Mr. Beecher, was here to-day, and emphatically denied the allegation and declared that Woodhull's statements were untrue in every particular.

WASHINGTON CITY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The President to-day said, aside from the political issues involved, he was gratified that the result of the election had vindicated his private character, which had been so violently assailed.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

From Berlin.

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—A pamphlet entitled "Away with the House of Peers," has appeared. Government has in no way interfered with its sale.

From Vienna.

VIENNA, Nov. 6.—Post, American Consul, has received under his protection thirty five Jewish families, who have fled from persecution in Wa'ach'a. A subscription has been opened at the Consulate to enable exiles to emigrate to the United States.

Sensible.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The Daily Telegraph, referring to the re-election of Gen. Grant, says no one deserves better from his country or is worthier of a place among the illustrious men who have twice held the Presidential office. England has had cause to complain of many things, but President Grant's policy toward her has never been wilfully hostile. The Telegraph hopes the United States will now take care of Mexico and Cuba. It believes that the West and not the East demand their attention.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—Sheriff Adams says he is confident that they are on the track of the escaped forgers and will catch them. The report that they had been seen in San Mateo, near Belmont, wants confirmation. The best proof will be their capture.

James Cunningham shot himself last night with a pistol. The ball entered his neck and came out of his mouth. He would give no reason for the rash act.

The First Choice Diamond Mine Incorporated with J. F. Boyd, J. W. Best, C. D. Cleveland and E. M. Fry, Trustees.

The woolen mills are running to the utmost limit of their capacity to furnish the winter trade.

ARIZONA.

PRESCOTT, Arizona, Nov. 29.—The military party which started from Camp Hualapia on the 21st inst. in command of Gen. Crook have returned, having killed nine Apache and Mohave Indians and captured and destroyed considerable quantities of Apache plunder, arms, etc. The killing was done near Santa Maria river the 25th inst., under command of Capt. Mason, 5th Cavalry. Previous to striking the foe, Gen. Crook, with a few men, struck out for Camp Date Creek to see and have a talk with some Indians who desired peace.

D. C. Moreland and George Hogel, from whom we have received the foregoing information, say that one Hualapai was killed by mistake. His friends burned his body, gun and blankets, etc. Capts. Montgomery and Adams led their companies. We rejoice over the fact that nine more murderers have met their just doom, and that General Crook's plans are being successfully carried out.

OREGON.

Farmers in Washington county are all busy plowing and putting in grain.

A house in Cornelius took fire yesterday from a defective flue. After much hurrah and excitement it was put out. Damage slight.

The Statesman has a story of a lorn widow who has been jilted by a rich old land owner in Salem, and now seeks to get even on the "old boy by bringing a breach of promise case against him.

In South Tualatin precinct, Washington county, the Demo-Libs had no ticket, and couldn't find out who was their Presidential Electors, consequently didn't vote. Ex-Sheriff Reeves says he wants to be struck off from that precinct.

EASTERN STATES.

Election News.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Tribune this morning, gives Grant 15,000 majority in this State.

Greeley, in a card, announces his return to the editorship of the Tribune.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The average Republican majority in this State is claimed to be 50,000. The World estimates Grant's popular majority at 520,916, and gives him 269 electoral votes to 29 for Greeley. Dix's majority in the State will not vary much from that of Grant. Kernan ran ahead of Greeley in a large portion of the State, but falls some 4,000 behind in Brooklyn, Long Island and Staten Island. Kernan's vote in the Republican wards of this city is less than Greeley's. It is also smaller than Greeley's in the German districts, while Dix's is larger than Grant's there. In all the strong Democratic localities Kernan leads Greeley. He carried Utica, his own city, by 324 majority, while Grant's majority was 236.

The Tribune gives Grant 23 States and 248 electoral votes. It claims Georgia, Louisiana, Maryland, Tennessee and Kentucky for Greeley, making an aggregate electoral vote of 72.

The Tribune gives Grant 40,000 majority in New York State.

A dispatch from Jacksonville says Florida is closely contested but will go for Greeley.

The Herald thinks from latest Virginia returns, Grant has carried Virginia.

Manton Marble, of the World, returns to his post as editor of that paper, in restored health, to-morrow.

The following is the latest and most reliable estimate of the majorities in various States returned: Thirty counties in Missouri, received at 12 o'clock, noon, to-day, give Greeley 8,000 majority. Twenty nine States have given Grant the following majorities:

Pennsylvania, 125,000; Massachusetts, 73,217; Illinois, 50,000; Michigan, 50,000; Iowa, 50,000; New York, 45,000; Maine, 30,000; Indiana, 23,000; Minnesota, 20,000; Vermont, 17,000; Wisconsin, 15,000; South Carolina, 15,000; New Jersey, 12,000; North Carolina, 10,000; Rhode Island, 8,338; California, 7,000; Florida, doubtful; Mississippi, 5,000; New Hampshire, 5,000; West Virginia, 5,000; Connecticut, 3,351; Kansas, 3,000; Delaware, 1,500; Oregon, 1,000; Nevada, 2,000; Nebraska, 1,000; Virginia, claimed; Louisiana, claimed; Alabama, claimed. Popular majority, 570,406.

Havemeyer is elected Mayor of New York by 5,442.

More Election News.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—St. John, Republican, is elected in Orange District.

A Baltimore dispatch says the State outside that city gives 2,000 majority for Grant. Greeley everywhere runs behind the ticket for Congressman at large. The Republican gain in the Sixth or Western District was a general surprise.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7.—Unofficial returns from 37 parishes outside of New Orleans give a net Republican majority of 9,534. Net Republican majority in 1870 in the same parishes was 15,156. The remaining 15 parishes in 1870 gave a net Republican majority of 1,215. With the same ratio of gains the Liberals will carry the State of Louisiana.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—Returns from 30 counties outside of St. Louis county give Greeley a net majority of 6,000.

DUBUQUE (Iowa), Nov. 7.—The Republican State Central Committee place Grant's majority in 42 counties at 60,000. All the Republican Congressmen are elected by large majorities, ranging from 1,500 to 10,000.

A Card from Colfax.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 7.—A special to the Chronicle dated at Indianapolis contains the following card addressed to the Indianapolis Journal:

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 1.

The Chicago Tribune of to day again states, it appears, "that Colax is after the Senatorship in Indiana." Even at the risk of subjecting myself to more cheap wit by opposition papers about retiring, I ask the privilege of re-stating in your columns about what I have said publicly to tens of thousands, the past month, that I am not a candidate or aspirant for any position Senatorial or editorial, State or national, and of course am not a candidate for election unless the Republican nominee for the Senatorship by the united vote of the Republican members of the Legislature.

(Signed) SCHUYLER COLFAX.

The Tribune on the Situation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Tribune says the results in this State seem to point to two conclusions: that a marked percentage of Democrats refused to support Greeley, and that a large percentage of those who supported Seymour did not vote at all. The Tribune is well pleased with the results of the city election, though its candidates were not elected. It says there is an end to the era of fraud and violence in the metropolis.

Foul Play.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—Yesterday afternoon two barrels were found floating in Charles river at Cambridge, which, on being taken ashore, were found to contain the mutilated remains of a man. The head and legs were in one barrel, and the trunk in the other. The body was well dressed. A gold watch was found in one of the barrels.

Horse Malady Still Raging.

There is no abatement in the horse disease. Street cars are all stopped, and business on the wharves and depots is suffering. A few ox teams have appeared.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 7.—The horse disease is at its worst stage. There are no street cars or stages, and few mules and oxen.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—There is a marked increase in the number of horses on the streets to-day, though most show the effects of the disease.

Weather is bright, warm and beautiful—favorable to the recovery of sick animals, and accounts from large livery stables are encouraging.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

An Ingenious Machine.

The Louisville Courier-Journal has the following description of a rare invention:

Probably there is no class of men more maligned, subjected to more undeserved obloquy, than conductors on railroads. In fact, the dishonesty of conductors has become a proverb, and it is an every-day remark, speaking of a conductor's income, that his stealage is more than his pay. That this is true with regard to some, we have no doubt, as there are dishonest men among all classes; but in the case of conductors the public seem to act upon a theory that is certainly not very creditable to mankind at large, viz.: that these men are dishonest because they have a chance to be. We have a better opinion of our fellow men than that. We do not believe that a man's honesty depends only on his opportunity. Indeed, we know many men who are honest from principle; and, strange as it may appear to those who are in the habit of making a jest of the integrity of conductors, there is a fair proportion of that much-abused class of men among them.

Much of this reputation for mental obliquity in regard to the law of meum and tuum which attaches to conductors is due, probably, to the extensive system of "dead-headism" which has prevailed on railroads of all classes since such roads were first constructed. This has been a constant source of disgust and annoyance to the officers managing, as well as to the stockholders drawing their income from the roads, and the efforts to force every person deriving benefit from the facilities furnished by the road to pay full rates of fare have afforded a difficult problem for railroad men to solve. It is a problem, too, in which the conductors, for their own sakes, are vitally interested. Much wrong and injustice have been done them as a class on this account by unthinking people who make the rascality of a few a reproach upon all. Many conductors have developed lofty traits of character, and have risen to high and deserved positions in other walks of life, and it is unfair to stigmatize all for the weakness or evil of the few who take dishonest advantage of their opportunities. Anything, therefore, which tends to assure the public that the collections on a car or train are all paid over honestly to the company, to that extent relieves the conductors of the odium of pocketing a part of it.

Hundreds of devices have been designed for this purpose; but it has been the good fortune of Mr. James H. Small, superintendent of the city railways of Buffalo, New York, to invent the best appliance of the kind we have seen. It is a little machine, simple in its construction, but complete and thorough in its work; and if generally adopted it will remove the stigma from the much maligned conductors, and place them on a footing of integrity with other class of business men. In fact, cheating is simply impossible where this machine is used, without open and public attention being called to it. It is only a conductor's punch, but so ingeniously constructed that it is entirely unnecessary for the conductor to make his report at the end of the trip, the punch making the report for him. This ingenious little machine weighs about 6 ounces, is made of brass, nickel plated, and is not much larger than the common punch used by conductors. We can more readily describe it by explaining the manner of its use:

The conductor is furnished with a trip card, upon which there is a double row of numbers, each number representing the amount of one fare. As five cents is the fare upon our city railway, the numbers range as follows—5, 10, 15, 20, and so on. When the conductor receives his first fare he punches out the 5; as he does so a small gong, loud enough to be heard in any part of the car, strikes in the punch, announcing to all within hearing that one fare has been collected. At the same moment the hands on the dial arranged like the face of a watch are moved forward, and register one fare, while the fragment of the card with the 5 upon it drops into a receptacle below, and there remains until the end of the trip, being the third silent but positive witness to the conductor's integrity. When the officers of the road hand the punch over to the conductor they register the number indicated by the dial, lock the openings securely, and the machine is so arranged that the least attempt to tamper with the lock can be instantly detected.

This little machine is destined to work a revolution in railroad circles. The assurance it gives to the railroad company is a matter of serious financial importance, but the effect it has upon the public is of even more importance to the character of conductors for integrity. While the dishonest one is prevented from cheating his employers, the honest conductor has in it a clear-voiced witness to his honesty. The client, when he receives the fare, will fail to punch the card, and that failure will be noticed at once by the passengers, who will naturally be listening for the sound of the gong. On the other hand, the honest conductor, when he punches the card on receiving a fare, has in the little gong a public and unimpeachable witness to his integrity; the ring of the bell gives public notice that he has credited the fare received to the company, to whom it honestly belongs. He says in effect to all present: "This machine registers my honesty, and you are my witness that I do not rob my employers, but stand upon an equal footing of honor and truth with any business man in the city. It is indeed at once the safeguard of the company, and the vindicator of the honor of the conductors.

Not only can this punch be used to advantage upon street railways, but upon steam roads, steam and other ferry boats, theaters, and in fact in every place of public amusement; and while it firmly establishes the honor of the honest man, it effectually cuts off the thief from his peculations and kills the system of dead-heading forever. The City Railway Company, of which Mr. H. H. Little is General Superintendent, have adopted these punches upon their excurson cars, and Mr. Little not only expresses himself as entirely pleased with their operation, but considers them well worthy of adoption by every railroad company that may wish to protect itself from loss of money and its employes from loss of reputation.

The Question of Fealty.

It is well known that the leading nations of Europe have never wholly recognized the right of those persons "to the manor born" to renounce their allegiance to the Government of their birth place. Influenced by these opinions, we have, during an occasion of hostilities in the Old World, frequently witnessed the curious spectacle of the nations of Europe calling upon the adopted citizens of the United States to be true to the country to which they originally owed fealty from the accidental circumstance of birth. Great Britain attempted to carry out this principle in the early days of the Republic, by her forced seizure of American citizens and American merchant ships on the high seas. It was repeated outrages of this description, in connection with other acts of usurpation, which brought on the war of 1812. That war pretty definitely settled the question between the two nations, although Great Britain for a long time subsequent gave evidence that, but for our expressed determination at every hazard to maintain the rights of both our native and adopted citizens inviolate, she would still claim the privilege of enforcing the doctrine of every Government born of feudalism, which is epitomized in the statement, "Once a subject always a subject."

This idea was very offensively put forth in the recent Franco-German war by the Prussian Government, in attempting to hold to military service in their native land persons who had for many years been naturalized citizens of this country, and who, in fact as well as name, had all their interests centered here. But Prince Bismarck was too wily to force this question to an open rupture with this country, and the quiet but decided protest of the Department of State was all that was required to stop further intermeddling of this description.

In the face of all these precedents, we confess we were rather surprised at seeing in the morning paper of a recent date the following strange advertisement:

> "CONSULATE OF SWEDEN AND NORWAY,
> NEW YORK, Oct. 19, 1872.
>
> All Swedish or Norwegian subjects residing in New York or in the vicinity thereof are hereby invited to appear at this Consulate for the purpose of placing on record the oath of allegiance to his Majesty King Oscar II., and the Constitutions of their respective countries, as is required of them upon the succession of a new Sovereign to the thrones of the United Kingdoms.
>
> The undersigned will be in attendance for the above purpose on and after Monday, October 21st, between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock P. M., at his office, 18 Exchange Place.
> CHRISTIAN BORS, Consul."

The order thus promulgated is in accordance with an ancient custom which requires all the subjects of a deceased monarch, in every part of the world, to ratify by oath their allegiance to his legitimate successor. Swedish Consuls everywhere are obligated to see that the law is complied with. The fact, however, that such an order is promulgated in foreign countries, shows with what jealous tenacity feudalism holds to the old doctrine of kingly fealty. It is worthy to stand side by side with the kindred sentiment, "the king can do no wrong." But neither of these maxims is likely hereafter to be greatly respected by the free political opinion which has made such rapid growth during the present century. Frequent contact and comparison with liberal views is destined in the near future to entirely obliterate the debasing tendencies of such fallacious principles. But the Governments which blindly adhere to their old prejudices, and thus seek to stay the progress of individual thought and genuine liberty, will, first or last, be swept away, and in their places will arise more perfect institutions, governed by men of enlightened views, and more fully made acquainted with the respective duties and relations belonging to the people and their rulers.—N. Y. Commercial Journal.

An Indian Nation.

The Atoka Vindicator, a Choctaw Indian newspaper, thus speaks of the present condition and future prospects of the Indians:

> We hold our land in common; we abandon old places and improve new ones at our option, we have a free Constitution, make our own laws, elect our own officers, and hold our own courts, which is all seemingly very good. But when we attempt to analyze these privileges we find them to be the chains which rivet us in slavery, serving every purpose of our enemies, not one to ourselves. Our country is rich in mineral wealth, the primitive forests are, as it were, untouched, and the virgin soil unturned, and are of but little more value to us than they were to our forefathers perhaps a thousand years ago. The Britons, the Saxons, the Celtic nations were once as savage as the Comanche of the Plains; they are the white men of to day; their forefathers were contemporary with ours in a savage state. Look at the difference between us! They are powerful and rich, we are weak and poor; yet we have been in direct contact with their civilization for more than one hundred years. What, then, is the cause of our poverty and weakness? Is it not the state of isolation in which we have lived, and the prejudices which our laws have fostered? Can we think to maintain this isolation, and that, too, within the heart of the mightiest government on the earth, when the far removed empires of China and Japan have been unable to do so?
>
> The Indians have made advancement, it is true; but they have reached a stand point, and must certainly retrograde unless they rear for themselves a new basis from which to move, for the old has done its work, and can carry them no farther.
>
> The pushing forward of railroads and other internal improvements, has brought a conflict of power, and while the United States intercourse law overawes, our own civil law scarcely occupies a secondary position. This is a true picture of our status as a nation, but there is a future before us, and it will be dark or bright, just as we make it. We have a railroad traversing the whole extent of our country, which is the first step toward the annihilation of the present form of Government. We have nothing but to encourage a spirit of enterprise among the people, sectionalize and divide the land equally among us, and avail ourselves of the conveniences that civilization has brought to our door. There is no turning back; we must go on, and the sooner we prepare ourselves to meet the change the better it will be. If we do this, we will become a happy and prosperous nation.

FRIDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 8, 1872.

San Juan.

The fact of the controversy between the United States and Great Britain, concerning the dominion of the Island of San Juan, which lasted through a long series of years, and was determined a few weeks since by the decision of Emperor William of Germany, is familiar to our readers. The subject of the dispute being a considerable tract of country, occupying a position at the entrance to Puget Sound, which was supposed to give it peculiar value from a military point of view, and not without commercial importance, it will be interesting to citizens of this coast to recall briefly the history and principal circumstances of the dispute.

The treaty of June, 1846, put an end to the old claim of the United States to the territory north of the forty-ninth parallel. By this treaty our Government abandoned all claim north of that line; and the British Government relinquished that portion of the disputed territory south of that line to the United States, excepting such lands as lie west of the middle of the sound separating Vancouver Island from the main land. The treaty prescribes that the boundary line between the two countries shall follow the forty-ninth parallel westward to the middle of the sound above mentioned, whence, making a deflection to the south, following the middle of the main channel and of the Straits of Juan de Fuca to the Pacific ocean.

The waters separating Vancouver Island from the main land, are studded with islands, none of which are mentioned in the treaty, and it has been somewhat difficult to determine which of the two principal channels is to be deemed the main channel. Between these two principal channels lie the San Juan and a considerable number of smaller islands. If the treaty line should be held to follow the eastern of these channels, called Rosario straits, San Juan and the rest of the group would belong to Great Britain; if the western, called the Canal de Haro, the disputed islands would be American territory.

John C. Fremont, in his map of the country, designated the Rosario straits as the boundary, but the Joint Commissioners appointed in 1856 to mark the boundary, did not find it so easy to dispose of the question. The American Commissioner, Mr. Campbell, declined to accept the Fremont map as authority, and insisted that the Canal de Haro was the main channel, and should be adopted as the treaty line. This was in accordance with the construction which our Government had put upon the convention by treating San Juan as a part of Washington Territory. Indeed, a distinct issue had been made upon the question as early as 1855, by the levy of taxes upon the Hudson Bay Company, situated upon the Island, which that company refused to pay, denying the jurisdiction of the Territory over the Island.

The Commissioners failed to agree, Mr. Campbell adhering to the American claim for the Canal de Haro as the boundary, and the British Commissioner, Captain Prevost, as firmly insisting upon the Rosario channel. When the Commission closed its work the San Juan question remained in statu quo. Meanwhile the Island was occupied by American settlers; and in the course of time, about 1859, a dispute arose between an American and a British subject in regard to some act of the American by which the British subject suffered a small loss of property. The matter was a very trifling one, involving only some four or five dollars, but it gave rise to a dispute which soon became so bitter as to be attended with peril to the American settlers. General Harney, who at that time commanded the United States troops in the District, considered himself justified in sending a detachment of infantry to the island, which he did without consulting the Governor of the British colony, who resided at Vancouver Island. The protest of the Hudson Bay Company's agent brought matters to a crisis, the British Government sending also a detachment of troops to occupy the island. A visit of Gen. Scott and a conference between him and Governor Douglass, led to an informal understanding that the island might be peaceably occupied by the citizens of both countries, temporarily, but that neither should assume to exercise exclusive jurisdiction. Thus the matters stood until, by the Treaty of Washington it was referred to the Emperor William, who has just decided that the Canal de Haro is the treaty line, giving the disputed islands to the United States.

The whole affair, it is apparent, was the result of a misunderstanding. The memorandum of Sir R. Pakenham, the British negotiator of the treaty, affirms that the negotiations were concluded without any reference to the islands lying between the mainland and Vancouver; while Mr. McLane, the American Minister, understood the British Government as substantially conceding the forty-ninth parallel to the sea, passing down the Canal de Haro and through the Straits of Fuca. The English claim to San Juan substantially amounts to the declaration that in reserving Vancouver's Island the reservation of the insular appendage necessary to its defense was implied; the American, to the declaration that the line was deflected for the sole purpose of leaving Vancouver's Island intact, and that England is not entitled to further profit from said deflection. The question of a fair division of the minor islands was, therefore, properly excluded from the case, and in yielding the whole of Vancouver's Island, the United States could not be understood as intending to yield one of the strongest military positions on the Pacific.

In marked contrast with the inflated tone of the London Times, as reported in the cable telegrams published yesterday, are the moderate and sensible remarks of the Telegraph, which will be found among the dispatches this morning. Standing in a position to be free from the intense partizan feeling that were engendered by the strife for the Presidency, the English journals ought to be as correct in their estimation of the merits of the respective candidates as it would be possible to be, with the knowledge they possess. They ought, at least, to be free from that bias which is founded in party associations, and which cannot but influence the judgment of Americans.

The Telegraph speaks, we believe, the sentiments of candid and intelligent men throughout Europe when it says that General Grant deserves all the honor he has received in being re-elected by such an overwhelming majority, and that he is worthy of the place he occupies beside the illustrious Presidents who have been elected to the second term.

The official vote of Washington county stands: Grant, 530; Greeley, 199; O'Conor, 6. Total, 735. Grant's plurality is 331.

The New York, Boston and Philadelphia papers just received, contain more matter on the horse epidemic than upon any other topic, not excepting the Presidential election. Nothing that has taken place for years, has so completely prostrated the trade of the great commercial centres. The ice and snow blockades that occur sometimes are local. While one place is shut up in the ice, others are open to business. And these blockades are only for a day or two at a time, and never materially affect the oceanward traffic. The horse disease has been general, and laid its embargo not only upon the interior trade but upon all the traffic of the country.

Coghlan, Republican candidate for Congress in the Northern District of California, is defeated by Luttrell, Liberal candidate. Houghton, Page and Clayton are all elected. Coghlan missed the Mare Island vote, which gave him his majority two years ago.

We call the attention of the members of the Central Committee to the circular of C. W. Parrish, Chairman of the Committee, requesting that the official returns of the vote in the several counties with all the precincts in detail, be forwarded to him.

In the Legislature of Illinois the Republicans have a majority of thirty-two on joint ballot. This will secure a Republican Senator to succeed Mr. Trumbull, whose term expires March 3, 1873.

Hon. H. W. Corbett, U. S. Senator, sails to-day by the John L. Stephens, for San Francisco, on his way to Washington City. Congress will convene on the first Monday of December.

Garfielde has a majority of two in Oak Point precinct, Cowlitz county. The Democrats elect most of the county offices by one majority, with a tie in a few cases.

The Republican majorities in the State so far as heard from amount to 3,311. The returns come in very slowly.

The vote of Oak Point Precinct, Columbia county, foots up: Grant, 13; O'Conor, 15; Greeley, 1.

The vote in Clatsop county was: Grant, 197; Greeley, 77; O'Conor, 1.

THE TERRITORIES.

On the 27th ult. the War Eagle Mining Company, in Idaho, shipped to San Francisco two bars of bullion valued at $3,500.

It began snowing at Silver City, Idaho, on the 26th ult., and continued to snow for three days and nights, covering the ground to the depth of four inches.

A new stage line has been established between Mountain City, Idaho, and Elko, Nevada. The route was abandoned two years for lack of patronage.

The Olympia Courier assures the public that the predictions of its enemies that it would cease to be a daily paper after the election, is untrue, and says that "the Courier will not be affected a particle by the election, but will issue a daily and weekly as usual."

The Owyhee Avalanche of the 2d inst., says: "Hon. T. W. Bennett, the Governor of our Territory, arrived from San Francisco on Tuesday night's stage, and, in the Court House, on Thursday evening, made one of the best and most eloquent political speeches to which we have listened for many a day."

Too much benzine was the cause of a grand and regular street fight at Olympia, last Monday night, in which several persons took part. One named Brick and another named Gillespie, stripped themselves and fought on the street like mad dogs, for about ten minutes, until the former was placed hors du combat.

THE OVERLAND ROUTE TO OREGON. Information is often solicited relative to this route. For the information of all, we will say that regular daily trips are made from San Francisco to Red Bluff, by rail—273 miles; and prior to the 1st inst., from Portland to Oakland, on the Northern end of this route, 151 miles. The road was expected to be completed to Roseburg, eighteen miles further south, by October 1st. Between Red Bluff and Oakland are 322 miles of staging over about as rough country as is found in America; nevertheless, this distance is made by stage in fifty-four hours, being about six miles per hour, including all stoppages for meals and changing horses, for which allowing reasonable time, will make the travelling rate about seven miles per hour, night and day. The entire distance from San Francisco to Portland, is 778 miles, and time, seventy-nine hours. The railroad lines, 454 miles, and railroad time, twenty-five hours. This is a pleasant summer trip, and will pay any one, in the interesting views and scenery, who has time and means to accomplish it. The stage route will soon, if it is not now, be reduced eighteen miles, and the whole time reduced two hours. The California and Oregon road will soon be completed from Red Bluff to Reading.—The West.

Nothing sets so wide a mark between a vulgar and a noble soul, as the respect and reverential love of a woman. A man who is always sneering at women is generally a coarse profligate, or a coarser bigot.

Judge Hoar once said of a lawyer: "He has reached the superlative life; at first he sought to get on, and then he sought to get honor, and now he is trying to get honest."

Governor Seward's Magnanimity.

Henry C. Bloss, Esq., of the Titusville (Pennsylvania) Herald, now publishes for the first time a letter received by him from Governor Seward, after the nomination of Lincoln at Chicago, in 1860, to show, as he says, that he "was made of finer clay than all the Sumners and Greeleys, or, indeed, than any other statesman in the country, and was capable of rising above all personal considerations when required to perform a duty." This is the letter

AUBURN, July 6, 1860.

MY DEAR SIR I sincerely hope that you have not inferred from my long delay in acknowledging the letter you wrote to me on the 18th of May that I was unaffected by it or indifferent to the friendship suggested by it. If so, I need only assure you that while generous friends by the hundred, in various parts of the country, have been favoring me with their expressions and assurances of renewed and endearing confidence, just as you have done, my time has been occupied with the unremitted duties of my place at Washington, when I was not called away from them by parental griefs or cares.

Manifestly, my dear sir, it is a right and privilege of my friends to form and express their own opinion on the great event you describe in your letter with so much spirit, and in terms so generous toward myself.

Certainly, it would be an affectation on my part to reprove them for doing so. But there could be only one way for me. I think it is correctly held that the soldier, when he enlists in his country's cause, agrees to refer it to the judgment of that country what rank he shall take and what duties perform, and that he may do the cause more harm by questioning the decision which the country makes on his merits than he can do it good by the utmost bravery and efficiency in resisting the enemy. It would be very hard, indeed, if I were unable to submit to the common discipline of the camp, and to practice the magnanimity expected of every soldier, especially when my life has been so full of honors already.

But I look at the matter also from another standpoint. Our cause is now destined to success and triumph. That triumph would be an empty one if faction should arise among those who have brought it to this consummation. It seems to me a plain duty, to certify the American people that I am in no case to suffer my personal ambitions to bring any reverse, or even scandal, on the great party which is to inaugurate the principles of the Republican party in the administration and future conduct of the Government.

But I have perhaps said enough already on the personal bearing of the result at Chicago, and it only remains to thank you, as I do with all my heart, for your constant friendship, and assure you that I shall remember it forever and ever. With sincere affection, your friend,

WILLIAM H. SEWARD.

CITY.

FIRE LAST EVENING—Smoke was observed last evening about 7 o'clock, issuing from the windows and side door in the second story of the building occupied by L Baum on Front, between Stark and Oak streets The alarm was instantly communicated, and the clamor of the fire bells gave token of the presence of the dread destroyer Amidst a storm of wind and blinding rain the several companies left their houses and hurried with all possible speed toward the scene of the conflagration. In five minutes from the time the alarm was sounded, several streams of water were playing lively against the front of the building The Chief Engineer and his Assistants ascended the flight of stairs leading to the second story of the store to ascertain the precise locality of the element. Mr Baum had closed up the store about 6 o'clock and gone home It was found to be impossible to effect an entrance through the iron doors and by that means get into the lower story By this time the smoke was streaming out through every aperture of the building, and by its strong odor indicated that woolen goods were burning Mr. Williams and several others managed at length to open the wooden door at the head of the stairs leading up from the sidewalk The door opened into a small office This office was separated from the rest of the upper story by a thin partition It was but the work of a moment to break through the thin wall Dense volumes of blinding and suffocating smoke came rolling through the breach made in the partition, and drove back repeatedly the Chief Engineer and the assistants It was ascertained that the fire was situated in the rear portion of the lower story, and finding it impossible to reach the first floor from the second on account of the smoke, an effort was made to open the front doors. Intelligence having been communicated to Mr Baum, that gentleman came down as speedily as possible The iron doors were thrown open, and several streams of water directed towards the back part of the room. This soon produced a telling effect on the fire, as was indicated by the dispersion of the dense and stifling smoke. Ten minutes play flooded the room and andextinguished the fire. An examination of the premises disclosed the fact that a pile of clothing lying on the counter in the back part of the store had by some means caught on fire. It could not be determined whether the fire was communicated from the office stove, or that fire from a pipe or cigar had been accidentally dropped among the clothes. The latter supposition is the most reasonable, for the stove was situated several yards from the clothes which first caught fire and the heat from it could not be sufficiently intense to communicate with the goods The loss from the fire is comparatively slight, not exceeding a few hundred dollars The great damage is from the water Before the fire could be subdued it was necessary to flood the room on the second as well as the first story. The smoke prevented the firemen from discovering the exact locality of the element, and the streams of water were played at random for some time. Most of the entire stock of dry goods was thoroughly soaked The whole loss will probably reach from five to six thousand dollars. The stock is insured in the Imperial Fire Company, to an amount fully covering all the loss sustained.

A GUSTY NIGHT—November has come, and with it chilly mornings, damp days and cloudy nights. Last night, for the first time, old Boreas fairly turned himself loose, for a regular rantankerous cavort. About 6 o'clock the wind came up stiffly from the south, and in half an hour afterwards was blowing a perfect hurricane according to a strict Webfoot construction Dust, there was none to scatter, except damp dust, with enough of the aqueous element to render it pliable, but the way the wind scouted around the angles of the buildings, and up and down the streets, was a caution to snakes. Here, it passed a drygoods store, blowing off hats and coats exposed about the front doors, there it caught fierce hold of some old sign, making it creak and groan like the wail of a lost soul; here again it slammed doors and windows to and fro with such violence as to suggest to the proprietors visions of smashed glass and glazier's bills, yonder the gale played most rudely with the skirts of females, tossing the light fabrics, reckless and regardless of the rules of modesty, and exposing underwear which none but privileged eyes should view without blushes The usually placid bosom of the Wallamet lost its calm serenity, touched by the impulse of such a vigorous Webfoot zephyr. The waters were lashed into commotion, the waves chased each other in angry glee and, were tossed like miniature breakers on the shore. Pluvius, seeing that his old companion was engaged in kicking up the very deuce with things in this lower region, came gallantly to the rescue. The watery elements seemed fairly evoked by the aqueous god, and down they came in perfect torrents The streets and gutters ran streams large enough to float a half grown skiff. Entrances to sewers were choked by the superabundant accumulations from back streets, and ponds and young lakes were created at the intersections of the streets. Wind and rain combined to render the night most inclement and disagreeable. The storm last night is but the harbinger of the many which are to follow before the bleak winds of rude March shall visit us again Meanwhile Patience exhorts all to be resigned Use umbrellas when you can, and provide yourselves—not with purse, script nor staves, as commanded by the Scriptures—but with gum coats and heavy boots There is no other way to pass the long interminable Oregon winters but to take things as you find them It is no use to fret and grumble at the dispensations of Providence, for the wind bloweth just where it listeth, and the rain "lets up" just when it suits its own convenience.

RESPLENDENT.—Mount Hood donned her best attire yesterday and looked resplendent through the lucid atmosphere, and reminded one of a bright new coin just from the mint This monarch never looked more lovely, and seemed adorned with new beauties, more especially because he has veiled his face from the view of man for the last two or three weeks, Distance lends enchantment, and absence make presence the more welcome After being kept from the reach of vision so long, the old mountain could not resist the temptation, the first clear day which came along—and that was yesterday—to come out and enjoy a quiet smoke At intervals during yesterday afternoon, a column of smoke was seen to rise from the very summit of the mountain, reaching heavenward like a pencil several degrees, would then rift away toward the north and disappear. There are those who scout at the idea that Mount Hood has ever manifested any positive volcanic indications, but certain it is that the smoke which is so frequently seen to ascend from the summit could not arise from burning timber lying within the regions of perpetual snow, and if not from the timber, from what other sources could smoke arise but the interior of the mountain

BAND ORGANIZED—The musical citizens of Halsey, some time ago, organized a brass band at that place. A few days ago an order was received by Mr Geo L. DePrans, agent for M Gray's music store in this city, for thirteen brass instruments, the present number of the band The instruments were purchased, and will be forwarded to their destination in a few days These instruments are of superb workmanship and can be seen at the window of the music store corner of Alder and First streets

NEW LOCOMOTIVE—Another first class locomotive arrived on the bark Webfoot, from San Francisco, for the Oregon and California Railroad Company It will be called the "Junction" and will be used on the East Side road This locomotive like the rest used on both lines of railroad, was manufactured at the Baldwin Iron Works Pa. EDITH O'GORMAN'S LECTURE—The large audience room in the Masonic Temple was jam full of people last night, to hear the first lecture given in this city by Edith O'Gorman, the escaped Nun Her lecture was upon a subject, "Life in a Convent" with which it is not supposed we could be acquainted, and therefore we are unable, further than what her own authority gives it weight, to say with what accuracy she placed her subject before her hearers Her manner on the rostrum is quite easy and yet she maintains her dignity, and without being bold, is impressive and firm in her utterances She gave facts in regard to her own history and her views of the workings, power and influence of Roman Catholicism in America, especially in the institutions of learning under the control of that church, and the condition of the conventual system As a matter of course no Catholic will endorse her views, as she bitterly denounces the whole system Her hearers last evening paid the most profound attention, and frequently paid her the compliment of applause Her manner of speaking is very good with the exception that at times she could hardly be heard by those at the remote end of the room She will lecture this evening on The Romish Priesthood, Their Power in America and what it tends to In the course of her lecture she will give a full account of her cross examination in the Police Court, San Francisco by Col Dudley

NEW BOILER—The brush of the painter, and saw and hammer, are producing some important changes in the internal appearance of the Annie Stewart The work of overhauling goes bravely on. Appearances would indicate that she will be ready to take whatever line her owners may see proper to assign her, within a month The boiler—a very large one—is now being built at San Francisco, and will arrive here by the last of the present month Everything will be in readiness for this fine boat to run as soon as the boiler can be placed in the hold and the proper connections of steam made

BEING PLANKED—The Base Line road, extending from the end of L street to Lone Fir Cemetery, is being planked in places, so as to enable teams to pass and repass The plank roadway at present is only sufficiently wide to accommodate one team, and the planking at intervals is to allow wagons to pass at such points, without being compelled to drive off into the mud.

NEW MACHINERY—Two new engines are being built at the Oregon Iron Works which will be used to propel the little tug Marie Wilkins as soon as completed These engines are of 9-inch bore and four feet stroke A great additional power will be given the tug by these engines over the ones at present used to drive the vessel.

ASSISTANT ENGINEERS—At a recent meeting held by the members of Multnomah Engine Co No 2 it was resolved by the company that its members will cordially support J F Gallagher, of Protection Engine No 4, and J B. Reynolds of Willamette Engine No 1, for Assistant Engineers of the Fire Department, at the ensuing election

READY FOR SEA—Both the bark Jane A. Falkinburg, bound for Honolulu, and the ship Stars, bound with wheat for Liverpool, are lying at Astoria ready to go to sea as soon as the state of the weather, which is very rough about the mouth of the river, will allow.

MORE CARS—By the steamer John L. Stephens there arrived two more street cars—Nos 3 and 4 These cars are of the same build as the first two which were received. The horses to be used in drawing these cars is expected to arrive on the next steamer.

REPORTED OFF—A large vessel has been reported off the bar several days, but owing to the exceeding rough weather, it has not been safe for the tug to venture out The vessel is supposed to be the Norwood

HAULED AWAY—The stone and sand which has been taken from the hold of the bark Red Deer is being hauled away from the wharf, to different parts of the city, and will be used for various purposes.

FOR LOGS—The tug Marie Wilkins will proceed to Cathlamet in a few days to bring up a large raft of logs for the mills of the city. The raft will contain over 1,000,000 feet of lumber.

MARRIAGE LICENSES—There has been issued during the month of October, 20 marriage licenses from the County Clerk's office During September there were issued but fourteen.

Seasonable Suggestions

The heavy mists and cold night dews which characterize the present season are very trying to delicate organizations and in low lying, and swampy localities they produce an enormous crop of intermittent fevers of various types and degrees of intensity At this very time there are probably half a million of people in the United States suffering from periodical fevers by miasmatic fogs and exhalations What makes the prevalence of this evil the more deplorable is the fact that it might in all cases be easily prevented Malaria and damp produce little or no effect upon the system prefortified by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters Every fall and spring hundreds of letters are received from persons residing in ague and fever districts, who state that while their neighbors are incapacitated for labor by that debilitating disease they have been happily exempted from attack by the regular use of the great vegetable antidote to miasma As a antidote or specific for intermittent and remittent fevers the Bitters may be justly accounted infallible They eradicate the complaints in their most obstinate forms but the wiser course is to forestall attack by taking the preparation as a preventive The amount of productive labor withdrawn from active service during several months in the year by malarious maladies is immense, and the pecuniary losses to individuals, families and the nation from this cause is incalculable Bear in mind that by toning and regulating the system with Hostetter's Bitters before the calamity comes it may always be escaped; and let it also be remembered that indigestion, general debility biliousness, constipation, nervous complaints and indeed almost all the disturbances and derangements of the physical system are controlable by this genial restorative

PLANTATION BITTERS!

S. T.--1860--X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

A well preserved Head of Hair, in a person of middle age, at once bespeaks refinement, elegance, health and beauty It may truly be called Woman's Crowning Glory, while men are not insensible to its advantages and charms. Few things are more disgusting than thin, frizzly, harsh, untamed Hair, with head and coat covered with Dandruff. Visit a barber and you feel and look like a new man This is what LYON'S KATHAIRON will do all the time The charm which lies in well placed Hair, Glossy Curls, Luxuriant Tresses, and a Clean Head, is noticeable and irresistible.

Christ and the Little Ones.

"The Master has come over Jordan,"
Said Hannah, the mother, one day;
"He is healing the people who throng him,
By a touch of his finger, they say;
And now I shall carry the children—
Little Rachel, and Samuel and John—
I shall carry the baby, Esther,
For the Lord to look upon."

The father looked on her kindly,
But shook his head and smiled
"Now who but a doting mother
Would think of a thing so wild?
If the children were tortured by demons,
Or dying of fever 'twere well
Or had the taint of the leper,
Like many in Israel—"

"Nay, do not hinder me Nathan,
I feel such a burden of care,
If I carry it to the Master
Perhaps I shall leave it there.
If he lays his hand on the children,
My heart shall be lighter, I know,
For a blessing forever and ever
Will follow them as they go."

So over the hill to Jordan
Along by the vine rows green,
Esther asleep on her bosom,
And Rachel her brothers between;
'Mong the people who hung on his teaching,
Or wanted his touch or his word,
Through the row of proud Pharisees listening,
She pressed to the feet of the Lord.

"Now, why shouldst thou hinder the Master?"
Said Peter, "with little children like these?"
Seeth not how, from morning to evening,
He teacheth and healeth disease?"
Then Christ said, "Forbid not the children;
Permit them to come unto me;"
And he took in his arms little Esther,
And Rachel, she sat on his knee.

And the heavy heart of the mother
Was lifted all earth-care above,
As He laid the hands on the brothers
And blest them with tenderest love,
And He said of the babes in His bosom
"Of such is the kingdom of heaven"
And strength, duty and trial
That hour to her spirit is given.

THE SWORD OF FREDERICK THE GREAT.—It is well known to all readers of the history of Napoleon that after the battle of Jena, when in triumphal possession of Berlin, he went into the vault at Potsdam where rest the remains of the great Frederick, and took from the coffin the sword and the Order of the Black Eagle, which he usually wore, and carried them off to Paris. But history has also informed us that these relics had disappeared, and no one knew what had become of them. A letter from Paris to a continental journal gives this account of their fate, which is, at least, probably true. On the night, between the 30th and 31st of March, 1814, preceding the day of the entrance of the allies, Marshal Terrarier, Governor of the Invalides, accompanied by General Darhan and two adjutants, had the flags, fifteen or sixteen hundred in number, which hung in triumph from the dome of the church taken down and placed in a heap in the Court of Honor before a pedestal intended for a statue of Lannes. The adjutant. Vallerand, brought the sword of Frederick the Great and his Order of the Black Eagle, and, having first broken the sword, placed them on the pile, and then set fire to the mass. In a moment was consumed this mass of trophies —Prussian, Austrian, and Russian—purchased at the cost of so much blood, and the ashes and debris collected and thrown into the Seine. The next morning an aid de camp of Alexander came and inquired for the flags. He was shown the empty dome, and told that they had been burned the night before. The flags which were hung in the Notre Dame met with the same fate. It is said that more than one thousand six hundred francs' worth of gold and silver were afterward fished out of the Seine, which had adorned these trophies of victory. It was a mean act of Napoleon thus to rob the tomb of Frederick, but none the less characteristic on that account. So the fate of his own sword was but a just retribution. When he took the sword of Frederick from the coffin one of his flatterers said: "Ah! Sire, now you have a sword fit for you to wear!" "Double booby!" said Napoleon, turning fiercely on him; "have I not my own?" What would he have said could he have forseen that this sword of Jena can now be seen for a shilling, together with all her other curiosities, in the collection of Madame Tussaud!

Home Finances.

The money market presents some little indications of a change for the better, though the tightness has not greatly relaxed. Remittances from the Wallamet come in very slowly, and even some of our best buyers have exhibited a lack of that promptness so necessary to enable all parties to meet their liabilities at the close of the month. October closed with a large per centage of its bills unsettled, and the funds now on hand in our local market, from all we can learn, are very limited—smaller, perhaps, than at any period of time in the season. But we also note a falling off in the demand from the interior for means to purchase grain.

Various reasons are assigned for the nondescript condition of the money market on this coast, some of them vague or absurd, others profoundly philosophical. Among others, many consider the system of long credits which has become quite common as a general detriment to the trade of our city, and we doubt not that shorter time on ordinary sales would bring round a much better condition of things in this regard.

The slowness with which our surplus crop has been moved has been another drawback on the commerce of the State, as consumers have been, in consequence, unable to remit. We do not believe another season will find us so far behind in this respect, as our buyers and shippers have learned a lesson from which they will be apt to profit in the future. But all speculations on the financial condition in our country to-day are idle, while so many influences are at work, any one of which may either tend to grind the commercial interests of the country very closely or place it on a fair sea and bring to our sails favoring breezes to waft us toward general national prosperity.

Locally, our market is dull, and no actual appearance of relaxation is to be noted. Our city banks still manage to accommodate customers at usual rates, but for extraordinary speculations the supply of funds is decidedly short. That "Caution is the parent of Safety" is a better motto for the present condition of financial matters than "nothing venture, nothing won," seems to be the the general feeling among dealers, and we are confident that an observance of this principle will bring us through the pressure without disaster.

Home Produce Market.

Our home produce market during the week has been rather an active one, when we take into consideration all the circumstances. The election on Tuesday divided public attention for one day to some extent, but we assume that no Presidential contest was ever made which produced less commotion in trade circles generally than did that of last Tuesday. The movement of produce in the interior of the State is not so rapid as we would desire to see, and as it would be with enlarged and cheaper modes of transportation, yet the week now in review has witnessed a rather better state of affairs than had existed previously.

Wheat is reaching here in very fair quantities, and we hear of buyers in the interior, through agents who are effecting very considerable purchases at rates ruling from $1 35@1 45 delivered in sacks at Portland. Liverpool quotations are about as at last report, being for average California, the standard for Pacific coast wheat, 12s 8d The San Francisco market is quoted by telegraph at $1 50 to 1 62. About 75 vessels of 1,000 tons each would be required to market the surplus wheat crop of Oregon. During the week the British ship Siam has cleared with 16,313 sks, weighing 20,804 centals, valued at $29,040 60. There is on the berth the British barks Grasmere and Red Deer and the American ship Zouave. They will have quick dispatch.

Though the receipts of Flour have been fair, there is not a large stock reported on hand to-day. The demand for local consumption is active, while shipments have been as follows during the week 1,524 qr sks to Sitka and 2,268 hlf and 4,039 qr sks to San Francisco. The British bark Forward for Hongkong has her cargo in, and will put to sea by the last of the week. Several of the interior mills report running on full time, so as to meet engagements. Our market is quotable as follows in jobbing lots: Extra of standard brands, $5 ₩ bbl; choice country, $4 25@4 75; outside and superfine, $3 75@4.

Oats are in better demand, and the receipts can scarcely be reported as up to the requirement for home consumption, with the united calls which have been made from abroad. We quote an average at $1 40 ₩ cental sacked

Hay and Feed remain unchanged from last week, and the supply has been well kept up, though earlier in the week the latter was in rather better demand, but the old prices rule. No shipments of note are reported.

Onions range from 1@1½c ₩ lb, and the call is better. Several hundred sacks have been received during the week.

Potatoes are still dull here, as in California, with 1 fr receipts and depressed prices The best go at 75c ₩ 100 lbs Inferior at 50c.

Dairy Products show no disposition to advance on former rates though the demand for choice fresh Butter is good and it changes hands very quickly at 40@45c ₩ lb Inferior is plentier and in more limited demand at reduced rates

Eggs are scarcer and are marked up We are likely soon to see prices go to the high figure long prevailing last winter

The market is well supplied with Lemons and Limes Apples and Pears are in good supply Grapes are in abundance Apples and Plums are quoted at 75c@$1 50 ₩ box Grapes, $1@2 50 ₩ box

The market is kept in fair supply at $3 50@4 ₩ doz for Hens and Roosters; $2 50 @3 for Spring Chickens; Ducks, $6; Geese, $9@11 ₩ doz

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life! In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the faces, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary one of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy too work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.
